ABSTRACT

Fikria, Ainun. 2012. Strategies of "EFOS" English Debate Club to Improve Students' Speaking Skill at SMA Negeri 1 Sidoarjo. A thesis: English Education Department, Faculty of Tarbiyah, State Institute for Islamic Studies Sunan Ampel Surabaya. Advisors: Dra. Irma Soraya, M.Pd, Rakmawati, M.Pd.

Keywords: Strategies, EFOS, English Debate Club, Speaking Improvement.

The research occurred with three statements of the problem that cover; 1. What does the strategies of EFOS debate club to improve English speaking skill of SMA Negeri 1 Sidoarjo students?; 2. Are the strategies effective?; 3. What are the advantages and disadvantages of students' get after join the debate club further?

The objectives of this study are; 1. Explore the strategies of EFOS debate club coach to improve English speaking skill of SMA Negeri 1 Sidoarjo students; 2. Detect the effective strategies that the club conducted to achieve the betterment of speaking; 3. Find out the advantages and disadvantages that the students get toward their presence in debate club further.

The research conducted in SMA Negeri 1 Sidoarjo used a qualitative research focused on descriptive-clarification method. The result of this research is the strategies that the coach used, there are motivating students, lowering their anxiety and making them to learn taking a risk that match to the Douglas Brown theory of strategy for success in learning English which is accomplished by the usage of observation techniques. Further, the strategies are effective because they meet the extend purpose of the coach in speaking betterment. Completing the research, the advantage of the students' participation in debate improved their academic performances and also benefiting their future college and career. And the disadvantages covered the feeling of being overwhelmed toward their school activities and extracurricular activities. So, the researcher concluded that the strategies of the EFOS English debate club is effective in improving English speaking skill based on the data achieved.

School level, being able to master speaking English ability could meet the expectation of getting chance to take a charge in the International conferences, having an International debate competition or just make a friend with people all over the world.

Regarding to the importance of being able to communicate in English, SMA Negeri 1 Sidoarjo aware of their students' English speaking betterment by giving an extra hour to learn English outside the class. According to Harmer that students who are exposed repeatedly to language in outside the context of any classroom, will in normal circumstances learn it. They do this unconsciously – rather than as a form of study.² So, SMA Negeri 1 Sidoarjo provides an extracurricular in the form of English debate club to be a system which has a special mission on English speaking skill betterment. The English debate club gives students the opportunity to speak and broadening knowledge outside the classroom to achieve unconsciously speaking without lie much on grammatical or syntactical order but still in the appropriate way of speaking and attain the purpose of communication.

The English debate club namely EFOS, the abbreviation of English Federation of SMANISDA, is chosen to be the system which is trusted to meet the expectation of the school on students' English skills betterment, especially speaking skill. Making the expectation comes true. SMA Negeri 1 Sidoarjo supports all the needs of the club by funding operational expenses 4 million a year, funding the registration fee of debate competition, and providing facilities for the benefit of EFOS such as classroom, LCD, AC and Internet connection out of the school hours as well.

Actually, the expectation will be easier to be achieved because speaking in a first language and the target language, in this case is English, is basically the same. They do the process of conceptualizing, formulating then articulating to produce some speech.³ But, the differences lie on the speakers' knowledge of the target language, including vocabularies, grammar, and the frequency of practice speaking on the target language itself.

Thereby, this research will be conducted in School Based International Standard, SMA Negeri I Sidoarjo, because it has their expancement regarding speaking skill betterment. This case going interesting when they establish an English club called EFOS (English Federation of SMANISDA) that covers debate club inside. In this project, the research focuses on debate club because it has been proved as a speaking trigger⁴. Further, this club functioned as an educational program offered by this institution and has been obtained many achievements that benefit students and school as well. Proved by the latest achievement that EFOS got is being the first and second winner on STIKOM debate competition on SMA level.

B. Research Problems

- [illegible]

C. Objectives of the Study

The objectives of this study are;

1. Exploring the strategies of debate club upholds to improve English speaking skill of SMA Negeri 1 Sidoarjo' students.
2. Detecting the effective strategies that the club conduct to achieve the betterment of speaking.
3. Finding out the advantages and disadvantages which the students' get toward their presence in debate club further.

D. Significance of the Study

This study will be benefit for,

1. EFOS English club, because this study will be the reflection and evaluation of every activities they uphold.
2. Every institution that concern on language development because the researcher will also concentrate on how language is well improved in a club.
3. English Education Department Students because they will focus on this area during their study.
4. Student engaged in club to improve their quality on language development.
5. Being a significant solution for everyone who concern on English to meet their expectation on English speaking betterment, because this

1 Sidoarjo. Further, The support of the school is in the form of financial support and provision of facilities.

2. Speaking skill Improvement

The students could speak in English but have limited knowledge about the language, including vocabularies and grammar. This condition occurs because the frequency of practice speaking in English is lack. accompanied by the limited knowledge about the lesson topic which make they keep silent in the class because do not know what to say. And then when they are speaking in English, the fear comes, continued by nervous, anxiety, do not have the braveness to take a risk of making mistakes and as the result it may inhibit fluency proven by no word comes to their tongue because lack of confidence and too much self-filter or we used to call it “low self-esteem”.

The speaking skill improvement means that those kinds of problems do not occur after the involvement in the debate club. That is what the researcher called improvement in this case.

3. Components of Speaking

Faiza stated in her thesis that there are basic components of speaking are accent, fluency, vocabularies, grammar, and comprehension.

4. Debate

In this study, the term debate defined as a formal contest of argumentation between two teams or individuals which embodies the

The strategies of success toward developing English-specific self-confidence and lowering anxiety specially in speaking skill betterment according to Douglas Brown covers conversation skill, pronunciation and public speaking are explained as follows;

Practicing dialogues has a long history in language teaching, since language is essentially dialogic in its use.

Articulation refers to the accurate pronunciation of words. An effective debater articulates a speech, saying each word the way a dictionary said. A debater should have a good pronunciation because all the audiences are paying attention in time the debater deliver the speech.

Mispronunciation can hurt the debater's credibility. The debater will pronounce words correctly and establish trust with the audience by focusing on the articulation. So that, the debate club pays attention on articulation of speaking for its member.

[illegible]

Public speaking is one of people's primary fears, sometimes ranked ahead of death.⁵ Many people try to avoid speaking in public or experience significant anxiety before they do so. They may feel dizzy, have a dry mouth, sweaty palms, a racing pulse, or even begin to speech. In order to the settle the reactions it needs breathing exercise and practice regularly to speak English in front of people.

3. Learning to take a risk,

Learning to take a risk can be defined as taking a challenge. Something said as a challenge if that condition forced to out from the comfort zone. The coach always has the strategies to make students always take a challenge in his class.

B. The Activities of Debate Club to Improve English Speaking Skill

The Sociocultural theory, Scott Thornbury stated, situates the learning process firmly in its social context. According to this view, all learning is mediated through social and cultural activity. To achieve autonomy in a skill, the learner first needs to experience other-regulation, that is, the mediation of a ‘better other’, whether peer, teacher, or coach. This takes the form of assisted performance, whereby the teacher interacts with learner to provide a supportive framework which learner can extend their present competence, aware of the new must stay on top of their homework, attend practices, rehearsals and other events, and still find time to hang out with friends and family. They may have very little free time and feel constantly stressed.

b. Frustrations

No matter the age, students can become frustrated if they are overworked with school, friends, family and extracurricular activities. Older students sometimes juggle jobs as well. Students need time to study, relax with peers and join family time. Students might also be frustrated that they do not have time to grow their talents. If children put too much focus on a few, specific abilities, they might not develop into well-rounded people.

c. Physical Stresses

Another disadvantage of extracurricular activities is physical stresses. In older children, look out for mood swings, recurrent sickness such as stomachaches and complaints about the activities themselves. The activities might cause physical pain, such as leg cramps or headaches.

d. High Costs

For some families, the costs of their student's participation in extracurricular activities is simply too much. With shrinking budgets, schools contribute less and less to help cover the costs of activities.

emphasis, articulation, organization, word choices.¹⁸ Further, all of those elements will be described as follows.

a. Volume

The debaters should deliver a speech at the appropriate volume. It should not be too soft and too loud, the debater should deliver the speech in a slightly louder voice than a daily conversation used. Additional voice shows that the speaker is confident.

b. Rate

The rate of delivery is the speed or pace of a speech. Some people speak too rapidly because they are nervous and want to finish quickly. Others speak too fast because their anxiety changes the way their body functions. A rapid heart rate and faster breathing may speed the pace of all functions, and it works on speaking.

c. Emphasis

Do not emphasize all words equally. A good debater focuses the listener's attention, brings the emotions and reminds the audience of the specific words that have the important ideas by emphasizing.

d. Articulation

Articulation refers to the accurate pronunciation of words. An effective debater articulates a speech, saying each word the way a dictionary said. A debater should have a good pronunciation because all the audiences are paying attention in time the debater deliver the speech.

e. Organization

To debate successfully, the debater must do far more than pronounce words properly. They use the word to deliver a message, offer an opinion, share your knowledge, and persuade others. To succeed in debate, they must express the ideas effectively. The message should be simple, direct and clear.

An effective speech should follow a simple structure and have logical sequences of idea. The speech consists of three main parts: the introduction, main body and a conclusion. It provides a clear outline for the design and delivery of effective speeches.

f. Word choices

An effective debater selects the appropriate words to convey the message most accurately and persuasively. Strong wording make the arguments more credible. Always avoid prejudice and stereotypes in speech. Racist and sexist speech, unnecessarily violent or hostile images, and the use of offensive language will destroy credibility, and the audience will miss or ignore the effectiveness points.

2. Nonverbal Communication skill

Nonverbal communication is an important part of persuasive delivery. The debater must develop their nonverbal communication skills to make

Before begin the presentation, determine the starting spot, the place in the room from which you will speak. To begin a speech, wait until the audience is ready, make an eye contact by looking directly at them, relax with deep breath, be an enthusiastic speaker.

Eye contact is valuable; it reaches out to an audience and pulls them in, it bridges the physical distance between the speaker and her listeners, it establishes trust.

Using gestures adds movement to presentation and helps to emphasize important points. But, controlling gestures is an important skill for an effective speaker.

A speaker who acts in a respectful and responsible manner has poise. This speaker will not overreact to the issue, the audience, or any known before the debate is ready to begin. Topics are selected to provide a range of debate on education, social, economic, and cultural issues.

2. Number of Team and Debaters

There are two teams in debate; the proposition and the opposition. Each debate team consists of three students. One student is the first speaker, one is the second speaker, and the third is the team's rebuttal speaker.

3. Speaking Order and Time Limits

Speakers make their presentations in the following order. The time listed is the maximum allowed for each speech.

The position and time limits of MSPDP debate

First speaker, Proposition team	5 minutes
First speaker, Opposition team	5 minutes
Second speaker, Proposition team	5 minutes
Second speaker, Opposition team	5 minutes
Rebuttal speaker, Opposition team	3 minutes
Rebuttal speaker, Proposition team	3 minutes

First speaker, Proposition team must: Define the topic. Outline briefly what each speaker in their team will talk about. First speaker, Opposition team must: Accept or reject the definition. If you do not do reject, it is assumed that you accept the definition. Rebut a few of the main points of the first proposition speaker.

use any materials that were not prepared during the preparation time period.

6. Points of Information and Heckling

Debaters use point of information and heckling. A point of information (also known as POI, pronounced “P-O-I”) is a request to the speaker to surrender some of his speaking time for a comment or question by the opposing team. The speaker may accept or reject a POI. If the POI is accepted, the POI must no longer than fifteen seconds.

A heckle is an interruption of a speaker during his presentation. Students heckle to applaud the teammates and opponents before and after their speeches. Heckling is done by slapping one's hand on the table three to four times. Never use them to distract a speaker or continually interrupt a presentation.

7. Judge Training and Decision-Making

The MSDP judge must be certified. The judge will consider public speaking, argumentation, and teamwork skill in assigning points. The judge will announce the outcome of the debate to the participating teams and also will explain the reasons that a particular side has won the debate and provide some constructive criticism to help debaters improve future debates as well.

F. The Previous Studies

Faiza, in the research project entitled "Using Debate Method to Improve Speaking Ability at the second Grade of SMA Giki Surabaya" (Surabaya: IAIN Sunan Ampel, 2011). This previous research focused on how debate being one of speaking betterment method inside the classroom, Faiza stated that debate method that teacher use in the classroom work linier with the occurance of speaking betterment. The significant difference with this research is the subject. Faiza used debate as one of the method in teaching English speaking inside the classroom. So, the result is known when the method applied in classroom. But, this research focuses on debate club that has a definite schedule and structured activities with a certain objectives each. Hence, the result of speaking improvement will be significant.²² Another study was held by Fatimah Yuliani.

Fatimah Yuliani, Undergraduate Thesis: “The Implementation of Debate in Teaching Speaking to the First Year Students of RSBI (Rintisan Sekolah Bertaraf Internasional) Class at SMP N 1 Boyolali” (Surakarta: Universitas Muhammadiyah Surakarta, 2009).²³ The objectives of this research are to know the procedures of teaching speaking using debate, the activities of teaching speaking using debate, the problems faced by the teacher and the students, and the strengths and weaknesses of debate technique implementation. So, the different between the researcher’s research and Fatimah’s research is the subject,

B. Research Design

The study was based on field research. In the field research, the method used to uphold this research was personal interview to the coach and a few members and also hold an observation to club's activities.

In a personal interview section that conducted in English, the researcher filed the data from the member about the advantages and the disadvantages of their presence in debate club toward their subject in the school and English speaking skill betterment. And then, the researcher asked about the effectiveness of the activity in debate club as well. Furthermore, from the interview section, the researcher could measure the ability of speaking English of the members as well. To smoothen the data finding, the researcher used an interview guideline which served in appendix 10.

Thus, the researcher collected the data of the role of the coach presence in the every single debate club meeting in order to catch the strategies of speaking betterment which the coach implemented in debate club itself. To smoothen the finding of data, the researcher provided the observation checklist which served in appendix 3.

In the field observation session, recording all the club's action, activities and rehearsal were the researcher's privilege. Hence, the researcher prepared the suitable equipment to smoothen the research project. This field observation was the main data for the research that served in the field note as presented in appendix 1.

To know the strategies of the debate club regarding its members' improvement on language development, the researcher conducted the observation in three weeks. In this observation, the researcher analyzed the activity that the coach and the member did in every single meeting and then test students' English speaking fluency by conducted the English debate simulation over EFOS member at SMA Negeri 1 Sidoarjo.

C. Data and Source of Data

Source of data of the research was the subject where the data obtained. the coach and the member of EFOS English debate club themselves. Therefore, qualitative study is description of phenomena that is written in form of text. It could be words, sentences or even picture.

Data used in this research was divided into two data, the primary data and the secondary data, and would be explained as follows,

1. The primary data

- a. Data from the coach as the subject of this research, the coach was the key person to succeed this research, all the sentences, insight, the suggestion and the strategies that the coach used in the English club was the main subject to be studied further.
- b. Data from the member of English club as the object of this research, the whole member of this Debate club was 12 people. The population was homogeneous, because the members are from the first grade until the third grade of Senior High School level. For the exertion of validity and reliability of the research, 30% of the members are being interviewed. That was 3 students had been interviewed.

2. Secondary data

Secondary data was the data gotten from all documents which was needed for this study such as: the certificate of achievements they obtained, the handbook and life histories of EFOS debate club.

This data was valid because the researcher directly did the observation to the source of data. The researcher reported the real situations during the observation through field note. In addition, the data could be generalized. In short, it was applicable to other situations.

In qualitative research, reliability could be regarded as a fit between what researcher record as data and what actually occurred in the natural setting that was being researched. To make it happened, the researcher would do the repeating observation³.

D. Data Collection Techniques

Collecting data was the crucial aspect in the research. In order to get the data which was relevant and needed to accomplish the research, the researcher chose observation and interview techniques. The observation technique needs observation checklist (see appendix 1) and field note (see appendix 4) as the instruments to achieve reliable findings of coach's strategies and activities on speaking betterment. Furthermore, interview to the member and the coach accomplished the data needed to answer research question number two and three as served in appendix 7 because the sources of data in the qualitative research were the spoken data from the subject, material, motion and process of something⁴. Here are the explanations of research techniques and its instrument that applied to uphold the research;

1. Observation

Through observation, the researcher learned about behavior and the meaning attracted to those behavior.⁵ In this way, the researcher could look directly at what was taking place in situation

³ Lois Cohen, Research Methods In Education. (London and New York: Roulodge,2007), p. 396

⁴ Suharsimi Arikunto, Prosedur Penelitian suatu Pendekatan.... p. 129

⁵ Sugiyono, Metode Penelitian Kuantitatif Kualitatif p.310

Therefore, this technique was taken to answer the first research question on what the strategies that debate club implement to meet the students' expectation on speaking skill betterment.

b. Field Note

Field note, according to Bogdan and Biklen, is written record of what is heard, seen, experienced, and thought that aims to collect data and reflect the data in qualitative research.⁸ This instrument was needed to make the data valid and reliable because this field note was made, as soon as the researcher came from observation place, based on the real situation, what is heard, seen and experienced during the observation.

The content of the field note consisted of two main segments. First, descriptive part consisted of overview of background observations, people, actions and speech. Second, reflective part consists of framework of thought, researcher's opinion, ideas, and concern.⁹ This field note technique (Appendix 3) was taken to answer the second research question that focused on the effectiveness of the club's strategies towards

⁹ Lexy J. Moleong, Metodologi Penelitian Kualitatif – Ed. Revisi. Bandung: PT. Remaja Rosdakarya. 2011, p. 211

E. Data Analysis Techniques

Analyzing data in qualitative research was conducted before, during and after the field research. Qualitative data analysis involved organizing, accounting for and explaining the data; in short, making sense of data in terms of the participants' definitions of the situation, noting patterns, themes, categories and regularities¹⁰.

The techniques of data analysis applied in this research was Interactive Model of Analysis Miles and Huberman. The process of analyzing data was an ongoing with the process of collecting data. When did the interview, the researcher had analyzed the answers of the questions. It would be done as far as the answer was satisfying.¹¹ In this model, suggesting at least four procedures should be performed interactively in data analysis. Those procedures were data collection, data reduction, data display, and conclusion drawing.

Data collection referred to the process of collecting data in the field. The data of this study collected throughout the observation in three meeting of Debate club itself. The observation was aided by the observation checklist to know the coaching process in three meeting. And using field note to know how was the implementation of the activities that the debate club have been findings and the discussion of the findings.¹³ The conclusion drawing was the answer of the research question that had been formulated in the beginning of the research.

F. Data Validity Check

To make the data of the research valid and reliable, the researcher expanded the research period to ensure the validity of data, continued by the triangulation of data consist of source triangulation, technique triangulation, and time triangulation. And further, the researcher used media references in the form of handy cam and camera to make the data reliable. After that, uphold member check was benefit for checking the validity of the temporary finding result, this member check could be conducted in the discussion session with the object to reduce, add, or agreed the finding. So that, the researcher could compose the report in a well organized, detail, systematic, and reliable report in order to get the transferability that mean the result could be applied in another place (transferable).

So forth, the researcher did the dependability and confirmability check to the supervisor by giving the research track of record in order to audit the result and its objectivity.¹⁴ So there were the efforts of the researcher to get the validity and reliability of the research.

CHAPTER IV

FINDINGS AND DISCUSSION

This chapter focuses on the data findings and discussion of the research. This chapter will be the main point of the research. This chapter consists of three main subheadings; the glance description of the research subject “EFOS English debate club”, the data findings that is explained by the usage of instrument, and the discussion of the research findings.

A. The Glance of the Subject “EFOS Debate Club”

EFOS, an abbreviation of English Federation of SMAN 1 Sidoarjo (SMANISDA) is chosen to be the system which trusted to meet the expectation of the school on students' English skills betterment, especially speaking skill. Making the expectation comes true, SMA Negeri 1 Sidoarjo support all the needs of this extracurricular by funding operational expenses 4 million a year, funding the registration fee of debate competition, and providing facilities for the benefit of EFOS such as classroom, LCD, AC and Internet connection out of the school hours as well.

Addressing the enormous support by the school, EFOS has provided many achievements that give benefit to the school. This year, EFOS holds at least three championships in national competition. The last achievement that EFOS get was the champion of English Debate competition on Senior High School level that was held by STIKOM.

EFOS has main coach who has graduated from Universitas Negeri Surabaya (UNESA), Rizal Kuddah. He is one of the members of SCUD (Surabaya Community of Debate). The amount of the member of this club is 12 people. EFOS members gathered on Saturday and Sunday every week that could make them practice speaking English out of school hour. That was a brief description of the subject of the research.

B. Research Findings

The researcher finds the data which accomplished by the usage of the instrument that will be explained as follows:

1. The Strategies of EFOS Debate Club to Improve English Speaking Skill

a. The strategies of EFOS

Strategies of the club based on the observation are motivating students, lowering their anxiety and require them to take a risk. The strategies of coach to motivate them are invite the senior of EFOS who has graduated from SMA Negeri 1 Sidoarjo and get engaged into the favorite university (appendix 6) to be a debating partner, invite the guest coach (see appendix 6), show-up the achievements of efos to the member (see appendix 10).

The strategies of English debate club coach toward developing English-specific self-confidence and lowering anxiety specially in speaking skill betterment according to researcher's observation cover; hold the unconscious conversation (see appendix 5), hold pronunciation exercise (see appendix 5) and public speaking skill activities (see appendix 5).

The strategies of English debate club coach to make them learning to take a risk are spontaneously questioning them related world issues (see appendix 5), engage the student to a certain debate competition (see appendix 10) and then giving the out-door activity regarding public speaking with a minimal preparations (see appendix 5).

b. The Activities of EFOS

They did an awareness-raising activity that aimed to help learners understand about the material. Awareness involves at least three processes: attention, noticing, and understanding.

Attention, learners need to be paying attention – interested, involved and curious- if they are going to notice the features of target language. The activities of the debate club regarding attention rehearsal based on the observation are, (Appendix 1)

- 1) Listening to the recording material entitled “The experience of Ali”
- 2) Live listening to the coach and guest speaker
- 3) Listen to the import quotation of the sequel of Harry Potter in the Prof.

Snapes' scene.

- 4) Listening to the BBC world news

- 1) They have a speech in public places where so many people attend, such as a restaurant (Mc Donald) and the high way bank in front of the school of SMA Negeri 1 Sidoarjo (the Buduran flyover). (Appendix 5)
- 2) They have a debate simulation inside the class (Appendix 4).

The achievements of the students who engaged in EFOS were excellent. It was proved by the data found in the interview section, observation and study of documents that would be explained as follows;

[illegible]

EFOS. But now, the researcher could stated that their speaking ability was excellent because they speak fluently, unconsciously speak in English to answer the researchers' questions, think fast, pronounced the words accurately and have a lot of vocabularies (see appendix 8).

The observation section stated that their English speaking skill are excellent because they could speak fluently in debate simulation with the good articulation, clear accent, speaking comprehension in seven minutes length without relying much on the note, and produced rich vocabularies although not in grammatical order. But, if all of the components of speaking were achieved, the researcher could conclude that the member of EFOS acquired excellent English speaking skill proficiency (see appendix 6).

Furthermore, the data found based on the study of document stated that they obtained a lot of achievements in every English debate competitions they participated in the range of regional, national until international competitions. It was general truth that English debate competition required above average level of English speaking skill. So, based on their achievements, the researcher could conclude that the EFOS members have excellent level of English speaking skill proficiency because it was proved by their achievements in debate competitions. Here is the list of the achievements they got in the last two years (certificates enclosed);

2. Advantage and Disadvantage of Member’s Participation in Debate Club

In the interview session, the researcher limit on the advantage and disadvantage of the member’s participation in debate club which covers their improvement of speaking/communication skills, research skills, analytical/critical skills, knowledge/education, and college carrier advantage. And then the disadvantage of their participation covers feeling of being overwhelmed, hurt their health, make them frustration, costly, and hurts their academics.

partner. This strategy was giving motivation to the member who has a low-motivated self. So, this strategy was successfully attracts students involvement in joining EFOS.

Invite the guest coach (see Appendix 6), the beneficial of inviting guest coach was giving the knowledge of language for students that the own coach does not gave. The presence of guest coach also gives the benefit as the comparison of speaking style which makes students aware of another style of speaking and, further, could be a figure and motivate them to learn English more.

Show-up the achievements of EFOS to the member (See Appendix 10). EFOS itself contributes lots of trophy for school. The achievements attract students' excitement of being engaged in the community and then they will be highly motivated to get their own trophy.

According to the finding data of the interview session, the motive of the member to join EFOS debate club was so vary. Then, the researcher comes to divide it into two main criterions, the internal and external motivation. The internal motivation that called self-motivation means that the students doing something because they want to do it or student have made their own choice to do it. They do not need the reward, and do not mastering English) is a little low.⁵ Further, the anxiety occurs in the situation of most people feel foolish when they make mistakes in a foreign language.

The anxiety occurs when people afraid of making mistakes because of the consequences of being mocked by people. Those conditions will irritating the learner ego and make a frustration. As the result, the learner tend to be silent than speaking but making mistakes. Regarding those kinds of psychological aspect, the coach of the debate club manage and conduct his class as a comfortable as possible by build the atmosphere of fun but challenging. He has a motto, "practice speaking as much as possible although you make a lot of mistakes in your home is better than you make an error outside the home".

The strategies of English debate club coach toward developing English-specific self-confidence and lowering anxiety specially in speaking skill betterment according to researcher's observation covers conversation skill, pronunciation and public speaking are explained as follows;

1) Conversation skill

Practicing dialogues has a long history in language teaching, since language is essentially dialogic in its use.

Strategies:

⁵ Brown. Douglas, "Strategies for Success.... 26.

- a) Invite guest coach. The member asks the experienced speaker (guest coach) to have a conversation with them.
- b) Gossip away with your friend in English
- c) Participating in group discussion
- d) Playing conversation games such as “What would you do if you were”. This is coach-students interaction. (Appendix 4)

2) Pronunciation skill

Articulation refers to the accurate pronunciation of words. An effective debater articulates a speech, saying each word the way a dictionary said. A debater should have a good pronunciation because all the audiences are paying attention in time the debater deliver the speech

Strategies:

- a) Speak a loud. It helps the coach to correct the students' mispronounce words.
- b) Ask for help. Members ask their coach to listen to their practice speeches for pronunciation errors.
- c) Ask dictionary. (Appendix 5) Practice pronouncing sounds and words clearly to avoid errors through English pronouncing dictionary. Whether, open One Look Dictionary websites for pronunciation on www.onelook.com.
- d) Articulate unusual or difficult words and phrases.

- e) Articulate similar words and phrases.

3) Public Speaking

Public speaking is one of people's primary fears, sometimes ranked ahead of death.⁶ Many people try to avoid speaking in public or experience significant anxiety before they do so. They may feel dizzy, have a dry mouth, sweaty palms, a racing pulse, or even begin to speech. In order to the settle the reactions, the coach always gives the strategies to handle it.

Strategies:

- a) Read a lot of books. The anxiety occurs when people do not know what to say because they do not know the knowledge of that.

- b) Have a breathing exercise

Inhale normally and comfortably. Speak each of the numbers in item “i” in a clear and confident voice, pronouncing each with a single breath. Repeat this exercise using the other three lists. Once you can handle it, combine “i” and “ii”. Do the same thing with “iii” and “iv”. (Appendix 5)

- i. 1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9-10
- ii. 11-12-13-14-15-16-17-18-19-20

⁶ Kate Shuster-John Meany, Speak out! Debate and Public Speaking in the Middle Grades (New York: IDEBATE Press, 2004), 33.

- iii. A-B-C-D-E-F-G-H-I-J-K
 - iv. L-M-N-O-P-Q-R-S-T-U-V-W-X-Y-Z
- c) Have a speaking exercise

Say the following sentences on a single breath. Remember to speak clearly, with sufficient volume. (Usually some of these quotations is used in student's speeches). (Appendix 10)

- a. It could probably shown by facts and figures that there is no distinctly American criminal class except Congress.
Mark Twain
- b. The public will believe anything, so long as it is not founded on truth. Edith Sitwell
- c. Even if you're one the right tract, you'll get run over if you just sit there. Will Rogers

Therefore, based on the discussion above, the researcher stated that the strategy to lowering the students' anxiety was well implemented in every member of EFOS. As the result, they are not afraid any more to speak English in a debate simulation, in a public place and debate competitions as well.

c. Learning to take a risk,

In this session, learning to take a risk can be defined as taking a challenge. Something said as a challenge if that condition forced to out from the comfort zone. The coach always has the strategies to make

- 1) Always sharpen student's critical thinking by asking spontaneously to the student regarding the recent issues in certain countries. (see appendix 5)
- 2) Giving the out-door activity regarding public speaking with a minimal preparations. (see appendix 5)
- 3) Engage the student to a certain debate competition, in order to have experience in a real debate atmosphere, feel the beat of debating and to be inured out of the comfort zone. (see appendix 10)

Those all strategies are well implemented to the students and also meet the expectation of the students of being brave and not afraid to face a challenge from their coach. The result of an interview session stated that the students enjoy the strategies that the coach uphold (see appendix 4).

2. The Effectiveness of the Strategies of EFOS

a. Motivate Students

Based on the observation result, the coach was motivating students by inviting the guest coach and senior and also showing up the achievements that the club obtained in the last two years in order to increase the students' motivation.

Showing up the achievements is effective strategy because they are motivated to have their own trophy to be proud of and then their participation in debate competition has its benefit for adding point on the requirement for university enrollment.

So that, all of the strategies could increasing the students' motivation that was meet the extended purpose of the coach to motivate them. So, the researcher conclude that the strategies to motivate students that held by the coach of EFOS is effective based on the data above.

Based on the observation result, the strategies of debate coach to lower students' anxiety are through the unconscious conversation (see appendix 5), held pronunciation exercise (see appendix 5) and public speaking skill activities (see appendix 5).

Based on the observation result, the strategies to make them learning to take a risk in order to get the automaticity in speaking covers spontaneously questioning them related world issues (see appendix 5), engage the student to a certain debate competition (see appendix 10) and then giving the out-door activity regarding public speaking with minimal preparations (see appendix 5).

[illegible]

Engage the student to a certain debate competition was the challenging activities. The purpose of the speaking training in extracurricular is leading them to compete in such debate competitions. The interviewees agreed that taking a challenge to have a debate in such competitions make them improved their speaking ability. So, the researcher inferred that the strategy of the coach to engage them in debate competitions could make the students to take a risk in deliver their speaking along with critical thinking. Furthermore, that activity is benefit for their speaking improvements.

students speaking skill betterment because all of the activities meet all the strategies' extend purpose. So, all the activity of each strategy is effective.

D. The Advantages and Disadvantages of Engagement in Debate Club

1) The benefits to students' participation in debate.

a. Speaking/Communication Skills

Very benefiting, all of three students who were interviewed stated that their participation in debate bring the benefit in speaking/communication skills. The benefit covers the ability to speak in front of the class in a good manner and no anxiety. This condition is benefiting their presence in every school lesson that requires presentation method and further it will be benefit their future carrier when they have an interview section to enroll the job.

One of the reasons delivered by the interviewee is “since debating means you’re speaking in front of the audiences with much confidence and try to explain your argument as convincing as possible. So it makes me being used to public speaking with persuasive style which is really benefitting for my school lesson and also the future.”

b. Research skills

One of the reasons delivered by the interviewee is” when you’re in the middle of mattering, you will ‘forced’ to read that so-many-debate-matters that related to the motion, which is means you will increase your ability in searching something and arrange it into a good argument.”

Very benefiting, all of three students who is interviewed stated that their participation in debate brings the benefit in their critical skills. The benefit serves in the condition of needed a critical thinking when the analytical question occurs in partial subject, e.g. economic and social subject. That is benefitting to their presence in every school lesson that requires a critical thinking on some problem.

your speech, but also on how good you are in analyzing the motion and both your and your opponent's arguments. So it does help my critical skills a lot."

d. Knowledge/Education

Very benefiting. All of three students who is interviewed stated that their participation in debate brings the benefit in their better knowledge because they are reading a lot of news regarding the worldwide issues.

One of the reason delivered by the interviewee is “My classmates usually dont know about the international issues that happened while I’ve knew it from my mattering session since the motion is always including the hot issues in the world. So, debate surely brings advantage in term of my education.

e. College Carrier Advantage

Very benefiting. All of three students agree with the benefit that they have because of their involvement in debate club regarding their college carrier. It is because all of the achievements that they had will give the extra point in their college carrier. One of the statements is “All the achievement of my involvement in Debate competition support my academic point as well for University enrollment. That’s relieving.”

2) Identify the disadvantages to members' participation in debate.

2. Being Overwhelming

Yes. All of three students agree that being overwhelming is the main problem they face. Since they are students of SMA N 1 Sidoarjo, they have lots of homework and feel that they should set a priority and go along with that. One of the statement is "I choose Debate club as my prior extracurricular because I see the benefit in me. I just join EFOS because if too many activities I took, I will be overwhelmed and my school subjects will be dilapidated, because in EFOS there are so many activities".

3. Health/sleep/frustration:

Not really. All of the three students stated that the frustration is exist but in the day of the competition coming and the out-door activity comes, but overall is well and fun, they enjoy it. One of the reason covers that statement is "gotta admit that a week before the day of the competition is like my most toughful week in the month. But kinda enjoy it though."

4. Financial costs:

Not really. All of the three students said that the financial cost is for the benefit of the club, so it was never mind to spend money for the betterment of themselves than to spend it in the amusement park. One of the reason undercover that statement is “Surely it will cost a lot when the competition is on another city that quite far from mine, but it’s better to spend my money this way rather than waste it in some amusement park or whatsoever, I dont like that thingy.”

5. Hurts Academics

Not at all. They all still can manage to put them self in the top three of their class, but the disadvantage lie on their presence at school. one of the reason is “I still manage to put myself in top three on my class so yeah, as long as you can divide your time wisely, it wont bother anything at all.

So, the researcher could conclude that the participation of the member in debate club increase their academic performance proven by the achievements that they got in every debate competitions as the data stated and the disadvantage of their participation was the feeling of being overwhelmed of the activity in the club and school itself.

B. Suggestions

1. For EFOS debate coach, this research is a kind of evaluation to his strategy and activity that he upholds toward his club. The researcher hope that he has another active and effective strategies and activities outside what he used to apply in their club.
2. For the EFOS member, keep struggling to meet your expectation on English betterment. That all activities and strategies that your coach upheld was so benefiting for your future.
3. For the next researcher, try to find another club who has concern on English as a foreign language improvement in a different level, such as debate club in a university level and also in a different subject such as the school newspaper for English writing improvements or keep on going further with this research.
